

Arrests Fail to Halt Negro Demonstrators

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Negroes, trying to break through racial barriers at public lunch counters, are continuing their sit-downs and demonstrations, despite an increasing threat of arrest.

Approximately 200 Negro students from Allen University and Benedict College demonstrated Thursday after failing to get service at lunch counters in Columbia, S.C. Smaller groups turned out in St. Petersburg, Fla. and Norfolk, Va.

But the possibility of jail or fines spread as officials cracked down with trespassing or similar charges. Florida Gov. Leroy Collins backed up peace officers in the state pointing out a 1957 law gives operators of eating establishments the right to refuse service to anyone they consider undesirable.

The city manager at Columbia said further demonstrations there will not be tolerated and police were instructed to take all necessary steps to forestall them.

In Nashville, Tenn., where 144 have been arrested and a Negro dignity student dismissed as the result of demonstrations, Mayor Ben West called for an end to the public displays as he appointed a bi-racial citizens committee to study the issues involved.

A walk-out by 1,000 students at Alabama State College in Montgomery, lasted only through morning as most of them were on hand for their final quarterly exams in the afternoon. They had promised to stay away to protest expulsion of nine student leaders who took part in a recent demonstration. Virginia, which has new laws to prohibit trespassing, is watching the effect of boycotts launched against a number of stores in Richmond, Portsmouth and Suffolk.

Integration in Housing Fails

CHICAGO (AP)—Proponents of a racially integrated housing project lost in U. S. District Court today their attempt to settle Negroes in all-white Deerfield.

Deerfield is a suburban community of about 10,000 population northwest of Chicago.

Judge Joseph Sam Perry, in his ruling on an injunction suit, declared the village park board could proceed with its suit to condemn the site of the proposed housing project for recreational purposes.

The condemnation suit is pending in the Circuit Court of Lake County in which Deerfield is situated.

Since Feb. 2 Judge Perry has been studying the evidence taken during weeks of hearings.

20 Cities Are Named for ACA Awards

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Twenty outstanding Arkansas cities were named today at an awards luncheon of the 10th annual Arkansas Community Accomplishment Contest.

Top winners in the four population categories were Jonesboro, Siloam Springs, Arkansas City and Perryville.

Others which finished high in the competition were Rison, Booneville, Wynne and Magnolia. Jonesboro won first place in the population category of 6,000-20,000, Siloam Springs in the category of 3,000-6,000, Arkansas City in the bracket of 1,000-3,000 and Perryville in the category of towns under 1,000 population.

Marvin Mellon of Jonesboro, president of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce, presented the awards. The Chamber is one of twelve sponsors of the contest, which is designed to stimulate community improvement.

Featured speaker at the luncheon was Ben H. Wooten, board chairman of the First National Bank of Dallas, Tex.

Jonesboro was cited for a new Salvation Army and youth center, expenditure of $591,000 on local school expansion and the organization of a shoe factory employing 75 workers.

Siloam Springs was honored for a program of dairy herd improvement, a $500,000 industrial expansion and other civic achievements.

The award went to Arkansas City for a number of accomplishments, including a $225,000 bond issue for a road to a Potlatch Paper Mill site.

Perryville won on the basis of a new high school, a new city water system and a city cleanup program.

This was the breakdown of winners by category:

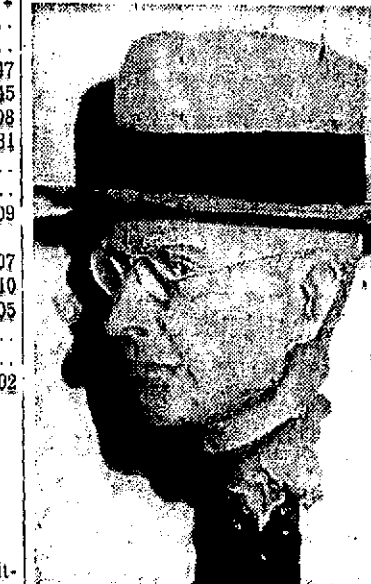

1. Jonesboro, Magnolia, Fayetteville, Camden and Van Buren.
2. Siloam Springs, Wynne, Morrilton, Clarksville and McGehee.
3. Arkansas City, Booneville, Murfreesboro, Huntsville and Carlisle.
4. Perryville, Rison, Mammoth Spring, Delight and Decatur.

Several hundred community leaders from 74 Arkansas cities braved freezing temperatures and hazardous road conditions to attend the luncheon.

A total of $5,800 in prizes was awarded to the top five cities in each of the four categories.

Winter Storm Leaves a Trail of 65 Dead

Hempstead County's Democratic Central Committee will meet at Hope City Hall at 10 a.m. Wednesday, March 9, according to Chairman W. S. Atkins.

The purpose of this session is to call the county primary and fix fees for various candidates. The filing deadline is April 27.

Mr. Atkins said that several issues need discussing and requested that all candidates and prospective candidates attend. He indicated the rules provide that when a precinct polls as many as 250 votes the Committee has the right to name an addition set of judges and clerks.

"This will expedite the count," he said, pointing to various city wards that usually take half the night or more to complete the count. This matter will be discussed by the Committee as well as proposals to eliminate rural boxes where only a few votes are cast.

Many rural precincts were set up in the days when transportation was a factor. Mr. Atkins said. The original purpose has been outlined and now the abolishment of several rural boxes will be brought before the committee, he said.

President Is 'Bushed' After Latin Tour

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

RAMSEY AIR FORCE BASE, Puerto Rico (AP)—President Eisenhower, admittedly "bushed" from 12 days of touring, planned to break his weekend of rest today for another talk on Latin-American affairs.

Facing an audience that includes some critics of United States policy in Latin America, the president gave a preliminary report on his goodwill mission to four South American nations.

Arriving here Thursday, Eisenhower was undisturbed by an engine mishap that put him almost two hours over wild Amazon jungles in a plane with one of its four jets out of action. The pilot said the President never was in any danger, and he switched in Dutch Surinam (Guiana) to another jet for the rest of the flight from Buenos Aires.

The President planned to fly by helicopter to address a luncheon of the Caribbean section of the American Assembly meeting at Dorado Beach, a resort owned by Laurence Rockefeller about 60 miles west of this Strategic Air Command base.

The assembly is a nonpartisan organization Eisenhower helped to create while president of Columbia University. It holds study and discussion sessions at which leaders in various public and private activities consider vital issues including Latin America.

The delegates at the Dorado meeting are considering many of the same hemispheric problems that confronted the President on his four-nation mission to Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay.

Eisenhower plans to return to Washington Sunday.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who parted with the presidential party here, told newsman in Charleston, S.C., Thursday night that the President's mission "was very successful, very successful."

Herter gave word that no increase in U.S. aid to South American nations is contemplated at this time. He did not elaborate.

The 69-year-old President was looking forward to rest and relaxation on his arrival here after his interrupted 3,775-mile flight from Buenos Aires.

Coming down the ramp of his substitute airliner, Eisenhower was asked to say a few words for a Puerto Rican radio station but declined with a smile, saying: "I am bushed."

Eisenhower was unaware during most of the flight over the trackless Brazilian jungle that an oil leak had forced a shutdown of one of the four engines of his plane after leaving Buenos Aires.

Dr. Draper, pilot of the presidential plane, told newsmen later. But Draper played it safe and sent out a radio alert to all air rescue units in the wild area. The jet was scheduled to make a refueling stop in Surinam, on the north coast of South America, and the landing was so smooth that most aboard did not know the plane was flying on only three engines.

Winter Storm Leaves a Trail of 65 Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—Winter's most vicious storm—the worst in many years for some areas—piled up mountainous snowdrifts and staggered the activities of millions in the Northeastern states today.

As it swept through the Northeast with the same fury previously unleashed on much of the country, it left a trail of at least 65 deaths across the country.

Thousands of schools were closed. Hundreds of businesses were forced to shut down. Auto, bus, rail and air travel was hit hard. Stalled cars, many buried under mounting drifts, dotted roads and highways and made snowplow work difficult.

The storm began to let up around dawn today after a 24-hour siege in the New York City area, one of the hardest hit. New York got its worst snowfall since 1948, with nearly 17 inches of snow fell in the third worst storm on record.

As of 7 a. m. today, the official measurement was 14.2 inches. Little more was expected.

But millions of New Yorkers, who went through a grim struggle to get home from work late Thursday, faced almost equal troubles trying to get back on the job today.

Crowds far greater than could be handled sought to board buses and subways. To add to the difficulties, parts of all three New York subways were out of operation during the morning rush hours.

Similar tribulations were experienced by both city and country people all over the Northeast.

In the New York metropolitan area, thousands who couldn't make it home spent the night in hotel rooms, when they could get them. Cols in Red Cross shelters and benches in crowded railroad stations also were used. Others dozed fitfully in their marooned cars.

As breakfast time came, many restaurants were thronged. Some places as far south as Pennsylvania measured 9 inches. Drifts four and five feet high were not uncommon.

The famous blizzard of 1888 dumped 21.9 inches of snow on New York. The worst recorded snowfall in the city, 25.8 inches, came in 1947.

The current storm was still howling through New England at mid-morning. It was not expected to ease up there until late today.

Maine anticipated as much as 15 inches of snow before the end. In the city's environs and Nassau County and Queens 12 deaths.

Spears Could Help Clear Plane Mystery

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Jailed naturopath Robert V. Spears may help solve the mystery of a Nov. 16 airliner crash which plunged 42 persons to death in the Gulf of Mexico, his wife hinted Thursday night.

Federal agents have sought for weeks to determine whether a bomb was planted aboard the plane. Spears, 65, an ex-convict, carried $120,000 life insurance. He had disappeared in hope his wife could collect it.

Mrs. Spears, 36, visited her husband in a Phoenix, Ariz., jail Thursday, after flying back to her Dallas home under FBI escort. She said of the crash probe:

"I think he could go a long way toward clearing it up—maybe not overnight but in time."

That was Mrs. Spears' reply in a radio interview after News Director Eddie Barker of station KRLD asked whether she thought her husband could shed some light on the unexplained crash.

She told of talking with Spears about whether he might have put a bomb on the National Airlines-operated craft before it took off from Tampa, Fla., en route to Dallas. Spears did not answer all her questions, she said.

"There are some things he feels he has reason for holding back," Mrs. Spears added. "He gave me his reasons and he has given them to others."

Mrs. Spears said after her husband's arrest that he told her an ex-prison buddy, William Allen Taylor of Tampa, used his ticket to board the departing plane. Until FBI agents arrested Spears, Jan. 20 in Phoenix, he was listed among those dying in the crash. Investigators found dynamite caps in Spears' luggage and dynamite caught near an Arizona desolate cabin where he had with a friend, the FBI has reported.

Payola Made to at Least 225 Jockeys

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the Federal Trade Commission testified today that payola has been lavished on 255 disc jockeys or other broadcast station personnel in more than 56 cities in 26 states.

FTC Chairman Earl W. Kintner gave these figures to the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee in reporting what his agency has done to crack down on under-the-table payments for plugs for phonograph records.

Kintner did not identify the 255 persons he said had received payola, nor did he list the cities or states where the undercover payments were made.

However, he testified that all the names have been turned over to the Federal Communications Commission and the Internal Revenue Service.

Kintner also said FTC files "indicate that at least seven radio station licensees have received similar payments."

Although Kintner didn't say so, this would be a violation of federal law which requires stations to identify all paid commercials they broadcast.

Reporting what the FTC has done to curb payola, Kintner testified that 60 complaints had been filed against record manufacturers and distributors accusing them of making payments to disc jockeys and others for plugging records on the air.

Kintner also told of another practice in the broadcasting field which he dubbed "plugola."

As the result of an FTC study, "We have docketed for formal investigation the plugola practices of eight firms which appear to solicit a cross segment of American industry to buy hidden plugs or commercials on regularly sponsored television programs." He didn't name the eight firms.

He said "it appears that the cost of these hidden commercials varies from $200 to $275 a plug and that they are planted through television writers, producers, cameramen, etc."

Kintner was to be followed on the witness stand by Chairman John C. Dierfer of the Federal Communications Commission.

A Blast in Arctic to Be Studied

By BERNIE MORRIS

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today its Project Chariot, a plan to make a huge excavation on the arctic coast with an atomic blast, will be under study for at least another year.

Plans for further study of the proposed project were announced by a three-man AEC team arriving here Thursday night en route to the far north to talk with native village councils from Kotzebue to Barrow.

The three AEC representatives hope to allay fears, expressed by some of the predominantly native population, that the project might be dangerous to life in the remote, sparsely populated arctic.

The project is part of Operation Plowshare the AEC's program for the peaceful use of nuclear energy. The AEC team is composed of R. L. Southwick, assistant to the commission operations manager in San Francisco; Russell H. Ball, also from the AEC's San Francisco office; and Charles L. Weaver, safety coordinator for the project. They will be joined next week by Dr. Robert Hausch of the Arctic Health Research Center.

4,000 Perish in Morocco Earthquake

AGADIR (AP)—Crown Prince Moulay Hassan of Morocco said today 4,000 persons are known to have perished in the Agadir earthquake and another 6,000 are presumed dead.

He said that a final estimate of 12,000 dead would not be exaggerated.

"I think the figure of 12,000 could be cited as near the truth," the crown prince told newsmen at his headquarters inside the quarantined city.

All Around Town

A tentative agreement by four college coaches to hold a round-robin meet in Hope in early December was reached this week during the B Boys State Tournament.

Sam Hindsman of Arkansas Tech. Bill Vining of Ouachita, R. C. Kennedy of East Texas Baptist College and Aubrey Smith of Southern State talked it over and agreed that if their schedules could be arranged they would be happy to hold such a meet here in connection with the annual Goodfellow charity drive which is carried out by the local Lions Club.

The two-night affair could mean quite a bit for the charity work as well as basketball promotion here.

Own Differences Blocking Backers in Rights Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate backers of civil rights legislation found themselves blocked by their own differences today from any immediate attempt to crush the record-breaking Southern filibuster.

A checkup by party leaders showed many senators unwilling to vote for a filibuster-ending debate limitation unless they received assurances that whatever bill the Senate may finally enact will not include provisions unsatisfactory to them. For the moment, all factions were standing firm.

The whole fate of the legislation could be wrapped up in resolving this issue.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas seemed to think it could be done. He talked of a possible bipartisan move next week to limit debate.

At the same time, there were signs the non-stop session was exacting a heavy toll of energies from the civil rights supporters.

It took 37 minutes to round up a quorum when Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) finished a speech of 300 words and 55 minutes at 11 a. m.

The civil rights troops had been turned out at 4:06 a. m. for an earlier quorum call. They showed up tired looking, gray, some in bedroom slippers, many without neckties and shirts open.

Smathers gazed at their disheveled appearance.

Wasn't there some rule about suitable attire for senators? he asked.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), who was presiding, told him there wasn't.

The civil rights backers must furnish the senators for a quorum—half the Senate. The well-organized Dixie forces on the other hand work with three platoons. While one team is on duty, the other teams are resting.

The plan calls for four-hour speeches by individual Southerners. Smathers was pretty close to schedule with his 3 hours, 55 minutes.

The filibuster had long since set one record. At 1:30 a. m. a 1954 record of 35 hours and 23 minutes for a practically continuous session had fallen. The 1954 session was on an atomic energy bill.

With this past, it headed for a second record to be marked up at 1:30 p. m. This was a 1915 record of 54 hours, 10 minutes for an unbroken session.

The current session, which began last Monday noon, was technically broken Wednesday by a 15-minute recess.

Any effective move to shut off the debate likely will be a joint one by Democratic Leader Johnson and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the GOP leader.

Although party leaders on both sides have thus far avoided any such action, Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), started without success Thursday night a move to end the debate.

Southerners blocked Morse's effort to file a cloture petition, and Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.) tore up the paper Morse had left.

State Promised Nothing But Continued Cold

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter kept its rigid clutch on Arkansas today but the forecast promised nothing worse than cold temperatures.

A bright sun helped thaw the ice-battered southern part of the state and snow in north and central Arkansas. Traffic moved at near-normal pace again.

Numbing cold gripped the state last night. The mercury dropped to 8 degrees at Fayetteville and other lows ranged through the teens and low 20s.

A chill weekend was in store. Minimum readings tonight were due to stay between 10 and 20 in north Arkansas and in the low 20s elsewhere.

The Weather Bureau said today's highs would vary from the low 30s to the mid 40s. Highs tomorrow are expected to be about the same.

In south Arkansas, hundreds of utility workers continued restoration of power and telephone service which was knocked out in Wednesday's ice storm.

Alaska Wants Some Assurance

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A resolution asking that the United States patrol its continental shelf with armed vessels to keep Russian fishing ships away was introduced in the Alaska Legislature Thursday.

The memorial by State Sen. Lester Branson of Nome would declare the shelf off limits to all nations.

The memorial said American fisheries "are in danger of serious depletion through uncontrolled exploitation by Soviet high seas got as much as 20 inches of snow. Maryland got 12 inches in some areas. At Washington, D.C., sessions of five House committees had to be postponed because members or witnesses were snowbound away from the Capitol.

Airports at Washington, Philadelphia and New York practically gave up. At New York's Idlewild Airport more than 200 flights were canceled.

The wind-driven storm blanketed Massachusetts, Rhode Island and southern Vermont and New Hampshire, with an expected 6-to-12 inch accumulation. Four persons died of heart attacks—all storm-attributed fatalities. As the storm hit Boston, Logan Airport was closed to all traffic.

The snow had reached depths of 12 inches in parts of Connecticut Thursday night.

Nearly two feet of snow plastered portions of New Jersey, making it one of the worst storms to hit the state in years.

New York City had a better outlook for public transportation today. Officials for the railroads, subways and buses said they expected facilities to be in fairly good shape.

DOROTHY DIX

She Would Be Good, Let Who Will Be Clever

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I am 18 and good looking. I was going to marry this guy. We broke up because he wanted to have relations before. I told him no. Every one tells me I am crazy to waste my time on him. The guys I go out with say I am very cold. This guy that I was going to marry tells everybody I will be his wife and wants to go back to me but I am afraid of him. The 22nd is his birthday. I don't know if I should send him a card or not.—G.J.B.

Dear G.J.B.: Indeed you are mixed-up—in every day grammar as well as thinking. Go back to school and stop worrying about the boys. There is no virtue in ignorance.

You may be pretty but until you've mastered the English language—and that goes for spelling as well as sentence structure—boys will lose interest in you.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Please help me in taking office as president of my Sunday school class. I'm so nervous about this that it makes me ill, but I'm determined to do what is expected of me. I made up my mind to do the best I could. Perhaps it will help me gain confidence in myself. I know we must go forward, not backward.—Mrs. G. A.

Dear Mrs. G.A.: My friend, Dorothy Carnegie, gave me a cure-all for stage fright when I once had a particularly difficult speech to make. Know your subject, then force yourself to discuss it again and again wherever you go in public and private. It worked for me. Try it. You've got the pluck. I'm mailing you my leaflet on being a good club member.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I went to Bermuda for my vacation and met a boy at the McKinley Air Force Base. He asked if he could write to me. I said yes. In his last letter he didn't act as though he were going to write any more. I fear, something has happened to him. I wrote but didn't receive an answer. Is there any way of finding out just what happened. Then I could have some piece of mind.—S.

Dear S.: A lovelorn girl is all too likely to attribute the silence of her boy friend to some disaster. Alas, such is rarely the case. Your young Air Force man probably just doesn't want to get too serious. The next move is up to him.

at the Senate clerk's desk.

He told the Senate later he had destroyed the petition because he thought Morse was making a "barely partisan, selfish gesture."

Morse had another copy of his petition prepared and said he was leaving it at the desk so Republicans and Democrats both could sign it. He said he favored a non-partisan approach to the whole issue.

A petition for cloture, or debate limitation, requires 10 signatures. Morse said he had acted on his own in preparing the petition, and "I found very little enthusiasm" among other senators for signing it.

Morse said Morse had no right under Senate rules to file the petition and "I had a certain right" to tear it up.

It was after this exchange that Johnson hinted at a vote next week.

Johnson said he was always reluctant to shut off discussion and said he thought the debate should go into next week.

But he added: "The Senate is going to have to stand up in a proud moment and say 'we are able to act.'"

When a leadership petition to cut off debate is filed, he said, there will be opportunity to make it a bipartisan move.

Stops Pledging of Tax Refunds

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service has stopped an arrangement under which some taxpayers were pledging their federal income tax refund checks in exchange for immediate cash.

Joe D. Henry, IRS collections chief here, said his office had found 175 cases in which taxpayers had asked that refund checks be mailed to accountants who filled out their returns.

Henry said the accountants had been giving the taxpayer cash—a discount of 5 to 50 per cent—at the time the return was filed.

Apparently no fraud was involved, Henry said, but the practice is illegal because the Internal Revenue Code requires that the taxpayer list his own address on the form.

Henry said the IRS had contacted the accountants involved and they agreed to stop the practice.

Industrial Law to Be Tested

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas' new industrial law, passed by the recent special session of the Legislature to aid Arkansas' industrialization, headed for a final determination by the state Supreme Court today.

The friendly suit attacking legality of the act was brought yesterday. It was dismissed by Chancellor P. S. Cunningham after a brief hearing.

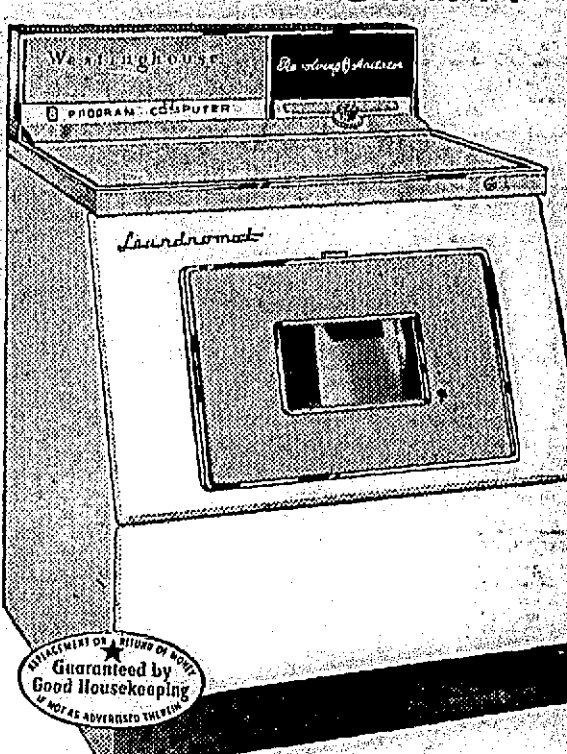

The suit was filed by Paul Wayland against the city of Batesville and Independence County.

The city and county will appeal to the Supreme Court.

The law provides that cities may help finance buildings for new industries by voting bond issues.

Batesville voters will go to the polls March 15 to vote on a $1,500,000 bond issue to help finance a proposed $1,300,000 Seiberling Rubber Co. plant.

Green Forest, Mulberry in A Tourney

TRUMANN, Ark. (AP)—Northwest Arkansas is assured of a finalist tonight when Green Forest and Mulberry meet in the semifinals of the Class A-Boys state basketball tournament here.

Nettleton and Warren will argue for the other spot in the championship round.

Jerry Rook, a 6-5 junior, broke the Class A tournament individual scoring record with 40 points as Nettleton cracked Siliam Springs 90-46 in the quarterfinals yesterday.

Warren beat Mena 60-58. Green Forest trimmed White Hall 64-41 and Mulberry topped Waldo 56-40 in other quarterfinal matches.

Rook eclipsed the record of 39 points set by Jerry Carlton of Sheridan in 1958. Nettleton's 90-point team total tied a record set in 1939 by Jonesboro.

Rook sank a 10-foot jump shot with 13 seconds to play to put Nettleton in the record books twice. He scored 12 points in the last came on soft jump shots.

Cecil Smith scored 19 points to lead Green Forest over White Hall whose Jerry Lybrand tallied 16.

Junior Graf sacked 17 points for Mulberry while Larry Fincher topped Waldo with 15.

Richard Sanders dropped in 27 points for Warren against Mena. Mena's Gene Autrey netted 19.

The title game is scheduled Saturday night.

All Over in SWC, Texas Texas Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was all over in the Southwest Conference basketball race today with the champion University of Texas Longhorns headed for Manhattan, Kan., and the NCAA regional playoffs.

But the Longhorns, who clinched the title Monday as Texas Tech whipped Southern Methodist, will take the memory of a stinging defeat with them to Manhattan.

Coch Buster Brannon's Texas Christian Horned Frogs soundly lounced the Longhorns 81-73 last night and—for the night, at least—left no doubt of their superiority.

In the other two games that Tech broke even for the conference wound up the conference race with 7-7 marks to tie for Texas A&M, a nationally-ranked 6-8 Baylor, 4-10 TCU, and 1-13 Rice. Texas' loss to the Horned Frogs, who were improving fast at season's end, snapped a Longhorn victory string at 9 straight games.

Tammy Meacham led the fired-up Frogs with 19 points but four other TCU players shot in double figures to make it a team job for Brannon, the veteran Christian coach.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—John W. Baldyga, a 33-year-old boilermaker, drew a 60-day suspended jail sentence in City Court Thursday for throwing a bowling ball through a restaurant window Feb. 8. POWER that sustains may be found thru regular church attendance

NO MALICE

No American who ever lived had a greater grasp of the true meaning of Freedom than Abe Lincoln, the kindly and rugged-featured man who described this nation as having been "conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

But Abraham Lincoln knew that Liberty could not be won and maintained by men alone. He acknowledged Divine power. The Great Emancipator made that clear in all his classic utterances. The closing lines of the Gettysburg Address is our best example: "... that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom ... and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth." ... that is Americanism.
